

CWBR NEW MEMBER ONLINE CODE OF ETHICS TRAINING

As of April 22, 2013, all new members must complete the National Association of REALTORS® online “REALTOR® Code of Ethics New Member Orientation Course”.

The online course will last approximately 2 ½ hours. In order to register for the course you must be registered with Central Wisconsin Board of REALTORS® (CWBR) as a new member in order to receive your NRDS number, which is required in order to take the online course. All new members are also required to attend New Member Orientation at the CWBR office. New members must attend one of the first two orientations offered after their membership application has been received.

At the end of the course there will be a test. You will receive the results of the test immediately following the test. Once you have passed the test, print it out or email it to CWBR, the certificate of passing. CWBR must receive this certificate on or before the day of orientation. You will not be able to complete the required orientation unless CWBR has received this passing verification. The online Code of Ethics course can either be taken all at once or you can take it in increments. The online course will save your progress. You must re-enter your NRDS number each time you log back into the course.

TO BEGIN THE COURSE

1. Have your NRDS number ready. If you do not know this number, please contact the CWBR office at cwbr@cwbr.org.
2. Follow this link: <http://www.realtor.org/coeduc.nsf/findnrdsrecord?openform> to begin the course.

Thank you for becoming a CWBR member. We look forward to seeing you at orientation! If you have any questions, please let us know.
